

POLLS OPEN TODAY FOR ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The election of class and council officers will be held today from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Polls will be set up in the center of the first floor Main hall. Polls will also be open today at the main entrance of the Science building from 9 a. m. to 1:30 p. m. All students must have their activity card to vote.

The slate of candidates is as follows: Student council president, Paul Johnson, Robert Leestamper, Mark Magney, Robert Murray, and Eric Peterson; student council members at large, Ron Weber, Andy Larson, Ron Kramnic, Dick Gay, Virginia Christie, John Brust, James Jacobson, and Tom Regimbal.

"The Ghosts Go West" To Be Shown Thursday

"The Ghost Goes West," starring Robert Donat, will be presented Thursday at noon in the auditorium as the third feature of the four-week film series. This outstanding comedy has Mr. Donat buying a castle and rebuilding it brick by brick in the West.

On the following Thursday "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," starring Gary Cooper and Jean Arthur, will be brought to the screen at the same hour. This motion picture which won the academy award 13 years ago will conclude the series.

Area Superintendents to Meet For Fourth Annual Conference

The fourth annual conference of the superintendents of this area will be held next Thursday. It is sponsored jointly by UMD and the Education and Social Welfare committee of the Duluth Chamber of Commerce. About 35 to 40 superintendents are expected to attend.

There will be two sessions during the day. At 10:00 a. m., the group will meet at Tweed Hall. Mr. T. J. Berning, assistant commissioner of education, will speak on the financial enactments of the recent legislature as they affect public education. There will also be short talks on new developments on the campus.

A noon luncheon will be held at the Flame for the superintendents. Special music will be provided by UMD music groups.

The committee in charge of arrangements consists of: Dr. Valworth Plumb, head of the department of education and psychology; Dr. Maude Lindquist, department of social studies; Dr. Clarence Lindquist, department of science and mathematics, and Dr. C. W. Wood, head of the student personnel services.

Awards to Be Given At Athletic Convo

The first annual Special Athletic Award Convo will be presented Tuesday at 11:00 in the auditorium. Athletic winners of the past year will be honored with Coaches Lloyd Peterson, Lewis Rickert, Joe Gerlach, Ward Wells, and Hank Jensen awarding "M's" in football, basketball and tennis, track, skiing, and hockey, respectively, to the varsity monogram winners.

Featuring some cheers led by UMD cheerleaders of the past season, Joyce Peterson, Mary Swanstrom, Kay McDonald and Pat Holmberg, the convo will be emceed by Dick Wallin.

A band under the capable direction of Mr. Elmer Magnell will also participate in the program along with the quartet.

Bob Rice, secretary of the "M" club, is in charge of the affair and will be assisted by Chairman Wallin and Assisting Chairman Mary Swanstrom.

Faculty Variety Show Scheduled for May 12

The Faculty Variety Show, which was postponed last month because of the lack of an open date, will be presented May 18 at 8 p. m. in the auditorium. The show will climax the All Campus Chest Drive.

The members of the faculty are now rehearsing for their skit and musical selections. Dr. Robert Heller, assistant professor of geology, is chairman of the planning committee.

Newly-Formed Frat Holds Election of Officers

Lewis Ely was elected president at a recent meeting of the newly-organized chapter of the Alpha Phi Omega, a national service fraternity. The following officers were also elected: vice president, Herb Peterson; secretary, John Brust; treasurer, Bill Crane, and historian Ron Sundeen.

Two committees were appointed by President Ely. Duane Grace was named head of the Constitutional Committee, and Bill Anderson is head of the Membership Committee.

Any male student who has served as a Boy Scout is eligible to join. Dr. Robert Pierce is the club adviser.

Band to be Announced At Junior Convo Thursday

The date of the Prom has been changed to June 1.

The orchestra was unable to make the May 26 date, which necessitated the change.

Bob Leestamper, junior class president, will announce the band at the junior class convo next Thursday at 11 a. m. The program for the convo will include a piano solo by Paul Johnson, a skit by the Torrance Hall girls, humorous repertoire by Dick Heim and Herb Taylor, songs by James Joseph and musical selections by the Terry-Evan on combo.

DELANEY TO LEAVE POST; AWAITS NEW ASSIGNMENT

Major Everett T. Delaney, professor of air science and tactics, will be transferred from UMD at the end of this quarter, according to Dr. John E. King, acting provost.

Head of the air force ROTC program for the past three years, Major Delaney will be reassigned according to the regular air force policy of limiting the DELANEY A successor has been nominated for the UMD ROTC post, but formal announcement must await general clearance with the agencies concerned.

King to Be Speaker At Frat Initiation

Dr. King will be the principal speaker at the Beta Phi Kappa formal initiation Wednesday evening. The dinner meeting of the fraternity to be held at the Spalding hotel will be the setting for the presentation of scrolls representing the honor and prestige to be bestowed upon 18 UMD men for academic and social leadership.

These include John W. Bender, Harry E. Brussel, John Brust, Ira Burhans, Gene Cloutier, Gerald Cook, Terry Evanston, Paul Feste, Dick Gay, Edward J. Holmbeck, Bob Isaacson, Lee Lundgren, David McCarthy, Les Nummela, John Rasche and Tom Regimbal. Ray Galernault and Duane Eicholz will receive their membership in absentia.

The arrangements committee is composed of John Coleman, Eric C. Peterson and Roger Lillihei.

Political Clubs Merge to Form UMD Democratic-Republican

In simultaneous meetings of the YDFL and the UMD Republican club on April 26, members of both parties voted unanimously for the formation of a new political organization to be known as the Democratic-Republican Union of UMD. In order to get the new organization functioning smoothly, it was decided to postpone the election of next year's officers until the next meeting of the Union to be held on May 10.

University Guild Players To Hold Annual Ball

University Guild Players will hold their annual Guild Awards Ball off campus Saturday evening, May 19. The place will be announced.

The event climaxes the year's activities of the Guild which has included three plays, "The Male Animal," "Dr. Faustus," and "I Remember Mama." At this time 'oscar' are awarded to the best actor and actress of the year along with awards to the best supporting bit and character parts, both male and female.

Recognition is also given to the best set design and set manager, and to the student contributing most to the theater activities during the year.

The theme of the June 1 prom will be "Marine Magic." Willard Misfeldt, decorations chairman, announced that a wide variety of lights will be used in the decorative scheme.

Bob Leestamper asks all junior class members to come to a Prom committee meeting in the Olcott Hall basement next Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

Tuesday night the Council voted to underwrite the junior class for the $1,600 fee for the 16-piece band. The band will feature two vocalists and a specialty number.

One thousand tickets will be printed for the prom, eight hundred of which will be available to students and faculty at $2.40 a couple. The remaining 200 tickets will be sold at $3.00 a couple to alumni and other former students.

Tickets will be available in Main hall from May 10 to 29 and also in the main hall of the Science building from 11 to 1 each day from May 10 to 21.

Tickets should be bought early because only 1,000 will be sold.

Filings Close Monday For Publications Positions

Monday 3 p. m. is the deadline for filing for the position of editor and business manager of next year's STATESMAN and Chronicle. The completed forms should be returned to the News Service office, Room 104, Main.

The meeting of the Publication Board is scheduled for 3 p. m., Monday, to consider the applications.

The members of the two organizations will not lose their individual political identity, but rather will completely disregard party lines to honestly and unbiasedly consider all sides of the current problems. It is hoped that through this means they can interest people in the political problems facing us and reduce the apathy of the public toward politics and government.

MORE FREE FUN FOR THE YOUNG

Would you like to find a place where you can put in your student leader time for your education courses and at the same time do some really worthwhile work? Seventeen UMD students satisfied both of these needs this year by working as student leaders at the First Methodist Community House.

The Community House, situated at Third avenue West and Second street, is financed by the First Methodist church, and managed by a part-time director, who works in conjunction with the Rev. John R. Lennon, minister of Christian education. Joe Berini, UMD senior, is the present director of the Community House.

The purpose of the organization is to provide wholesome recreation in a good atmosphere for all children over eight years old. It is especially for those who live in downtown areas, since they have no adequate play space. Membership costs 25 cents a year, and allows children to attend all activities for their age group.

Since spring has arrived, activity in the gym has been curtailed, but all winter long one could stop in and see Carol Ward and Miriam Murray working with their groups of girls. Ken Sunnarborg, Frank Jerich, Les Nummela and Gerry Novack spent many profitable hours teaching and coaching groups of boys in basketball. Profitable both for themselves and for the young people. Milan Karich was part-time gym leader.

Basketball season might be over in the public schools, but it isn't at the Community House. They are just finishing the playoffs in their Saturday league. This league is composed of three downtown teams, two from Lakeside, and one each from West Duluth, the West End and Proctor. The Blue Devils from town, the defending champions, will meet the Hunters from West Duluth in the finals. Joe Berini has charge of this league.

Up in the fourth floor club rooms activity groups hold regular meetings. Girl and Boy Scout groups also use these facilities, which include a piano, a record player equipped with a mike, and a motion picture projector. The latter is used on Friday nights, when approximately 200 children attend free movies. The membership numbers about 400 this year.

It was up here, on fourth floor, that Avis Hall and Earl Juntunen conducted activity groups in art and music. Eric Bergman also was a part-time leader in the publishing of the Community House's own paper, the "Spotlight."

There is another group that is still going strong at the Community House, in spite of the spring weather. This is the craft shop. Children still like to work with their hands, spring or no spring, and any Monday night Bev Juten and Pauline Amundson can be found assisting them. They make anything from bread boards to one-runner sleds, their own invention. Roy Olson works with the boys' craft group. With Mother's day approaching, the leaders will soon be helping children to make their own gifts.

Phyllis Peterson is another UMD student who has worked regularly in the shop all year. Part time workers were Elmer Tunturi and James Pratchios.

According to the Rev. Lennon, the Community House plans to use more leaders from UMD next year. They have had a very successful year with our leaders supplementing their own. So remember them next year, if you want to become part of a necessary program in youth conservation. Ask any of the students who have tried it; they will tell you that the experience is invaluable. They especially are interested in students who would like to lead a music group, since they plan to do more in music this coming year than they have in the past. This is a fine opportunity for social work majors as well as education majors. It can be worked into their program as field work.

The Tale of Uncle Joe's Clipping

By RON LEMPI

If you thing some fraternity entrance requirements are tough, you should've been in my shoes. Thi Sli Lipht (society of petty thieves, most notorious in the collegiate underworld) required me to pull one job without a hitch. My assignment was to clip Stalin's mustache. This is how I did it.

From Boston I stowed away on a boatload of atomic secrets headed for Leningrad. In Russia, even though I spoke only English, spent American money (supplemented by selling smuggled Chicago Tribunes on Gorki Street) and was attired in war surplus clothing, I had no trouble reaching Moscow, for I'd read Carnegie's "How to Win Friends and Influence People."

Even the massive gray walls of the Kremlin didn't bother me. Outside I removed a man-hole cover, picked my way through the dark maze of sewage tunnels, and came up in—the Kremlin wine-cellar! There sat Stalin, stewed.

With all the cobwebs of the tunnels clinging to my head, I must have looked a bit weird. I told him I was Marx, resurrected. Even in his condition Stalin sensed his guilt, and shrank back in fear. "Why," I asked in sepulchral tones, "have you not conformed to my fundamentals?"

Stalin turned moody and tears ran down his cheeks. In a gesture of despair he flung his head on my shoulder and, sobbing convulsively, begged me to answer just one question. Sensing an intense psychological moment, which would result in the revelation of a basic Russianism to the free world and give me the glory of an inside report, I clung to his every word: "What," he choked out, "what is The Thing?"

I flung him back onto a pile of empties and hit for home. I felt very smug and elated, for I had Stalin's mustache in my pocket. Yes, while he was sobbing on my shoulder I'd clipped his mustache, slick as you please. Thi Sli Lipht, here I come!

But my elation was short-lived—my wallet with my travelling money was gone! Do you suppose—why that thieving—! Those Communists have no sense of morals.

So after days of hunger and sleeping in the cold while journeying out of Russia, I became desperate. I had to have money. Yes, I sold the mustache. I sold it to a Ukrainian fly-tyer who wanted that "exquisite clump of bristle" (oh, comrade!) for a new trout streamer he was creating.

Thus I came home to the fraternity minus the mustache. They asked me where it was, and didn't believe the story I told them. But as proof to them and to you I argue thus: You haven't seen any recent photos of Stalin. Some say he's sick, but I know they're just waiting for his mustache to grow back.

Technical Crew Overcomes 'Mama' Staging Difficulties

By DICK HEIM

Due to certain vacancies in the Statesman staff (five of our regular staffers have given vent to other artistic flairs and have become diligent Guild workers on and off stage) the job of drama evaluation has been shifted to the unskilled yours truly.

The play "I Remember Mama," written by John Van Druten, depicts the warm and sometimes maudlin side of a family of Norwegian immigrants with tasteful reserve and skillful dramaturgy. Mama, skillfully played by Louise Hammerbeck, is a woman of emotional stability and foreign-bred sagacity, indigenous to mothers in that era before the emancipation of womanhood.

Outstanding character portrayals: Herbert Taylor, tyrannical but benevolent uncle of the family, does a very heart-rending, but not maudlin death scene which is to this reviewer, the high point of the play, both in feeling and in acting ability. He skillfully mastered not only the speech inflection but the physical handicap of Uncle Chris, and his employment of these characteristics lends a convincing consistency to the performance.

Louise Hammerbeck does an equally convincing portrayal, and I am taking into consideration that the role of Mama, although less meaty than that of Uncle Chris, demands a consistent use of dialect (the best in the cast), and a never dimming warmth which you will find not only convincing but delightful.

Kay Onsgard, as Katrina, the eldest daughter and narrator of the play, exhibited stage presence and technical proficiency but lacked the warmth and depth of understanding which might have made her characterization outstanding. Jack MacNaughton's "Papa" was competent but stereotyped, and as much may be said of Ann Dether's portrayal of a successful lady writer. The children in the cast, portrayed by Nickerson Bailey, Rosie Jorgenson, Robert Gibson and Marilyn Marshall were substantial; the latter deserving special mention for her delightful portrayal of the youngest daughter, Dagmar.

Peggy Hella, Kay MacDonnell and Joy Ganyo, as the three gossiping aunts were competent and amusing, Miss Hella exhibiting a bit more proficiency than the others. Dick Todd was successful as the sensitive mortician, Mr. Thorkelson, and Beverly Anderson made the most of her short role as Uncle Chris' mistress.

The most outstanding aspects of the production, to this reviewer, were the stage and lighting techniques employed. The technical staff, under the supervision of Dr. Hayes and headed by Phillip Smith, did a tremendous job in exploiting to the fullest the limited facilities at their disposal. Double curtain and auxiliary wings, with sliding platforms, rejuvenated our woefully inadequate stage by transforming every square foot of stage into functional areas.

It is evident that Dr. Hayes, as he comes to the end of his second year with us, has surpassed the quality of any previous dramatic work on this campus, or for that matter, in this city. Under his guidance, the University Theatre has become one of the dominant cultural voices in this area.

AN ANSWER FROM ANDY . . .

Author Explains His Plan

We are printing this letter, with our comments, rather than the editorial we had planned, because we feel the subject is important enough to warrant the space.

Dear Editor:

Let me compliment you on your excellent editorial of last week, entitled "Do we need the Larson Plan?" However, after reading it, I fear that you have failed to understand my proposal or the reasons for it.

I agree that such a change should be put to a student referendum, although it is not required by our present constitution.

One of the problems I have proposed to eliminate is the existence of clubs with overlapping of interest. One more correction is that we do not have representatives from the IFSC or the Religious Council as you stated.

The most important need for a change in our Council system, is the lack of direct representation of the student body as a whole. Rather, we have a governing body made up of special interest groups; each of these are looking out for themselves, while they could be doing an effective job at promoting UMD as a college.

I am forced to admit that I am not completely satisfied with the changes I have suggested, but I have visited several campuses while co-ordinating the 1948 campaign and have met people from various Minnesota colleges every few months since then. I realize the differences in Councils, and recognize the need for a change here at UMD. Whatever that change may be, I hope it is studied thoroughly and that we choose the best available.

Now, let us look once again, at the plan that your paper has so graciously named after me:

1. Deprive all clubs of their membership.

2. Create several sub-committees headed by commissioners elected from the student body, and made up representatives of clubs of similar nature. The Commissioner of Religion would be concerned with the Religious clubs, the Commissioner of Fraternities and Sororities would be concerned with fraternities and sororities, and so on.

3. The new Council would be made up of these new commissioners, the class presidents, a representative or commissioner of publications, a president, a vice president, and one member at large per each two hundred and fifty students.

This is the best I can do. If the editor or anyone else has a better plan bring it to the Council, we will be glad to see it. We do need a modern, progressive, more efficient student government.

Sincerely yours,
Andrew Larson.

Editor's Note: Stated as it is in your letter, your plan seems more practicable than it did. But your terminology bothers us; there is a lot of difference between "committees headed by commissioners elected from the student body" and sub-councils presided over by commissioners, as the amendment was presented to the Student Council. A committee infers a more flexible body, less unwieldy, than a sub-council which meets at specified times. We feel that sub-councils are an unnecessarily complex organization for our size.

We are glad to see that you agree with us on the fact that change should be well-considered, rather than rushed into as an end of the year climax.

★ MEET THE STARS ★

By JOE BERINI

Ernest Eugene Mustonen, the Tower half of the high scoring Tower-Soudan duo, is a two-year letter winner in hockey. Since Coach Jensen recognized Ernie's superior passing and scoring ability, he has been a constant thorn in opponents' sides. Slight in build (weighing 150 pounds soaking wet), but strong in spirit, Ernie has led Bulldog scoring from his center position for the last two years.

Hockey competition began during his freshman and sophomore years when he failed to make the UMD puck squad. Week-ends he traveled back and forth to the Range to perform with the Soudan city hockey club.

Before his graduation from Tower-Soudan High in 1947, "Musty" guided the "Golden Eagles" grid team from his quarterback post for three years. In basketball he also won three monograms and saw action with the 1946 T-S team that won the district and regional championships that year. Entering the state classic was a thrill Musty will long remember—they won the consolation title.

Another sport Ernie likes is baseball—he cavorts at short-stop during the summer for Tower in the eight-team Mesabi Range league. Because of his dependable hitting and sparkling infield play, he has been chosen on the league All-Star team for the last two years.

Twenty-two years old now, Ernie will graduate this June with a B.S. degree in math. Social studies and general science are his minors. A junior high school teaching position, with a chance to coach the ice sport in high school, would be an appealing combination he feels qualified to fill.

 The Department of Air Science and Tactics (USAF ROTC) will now accept preliminary applications for enrollment in the Advanced course for the 1951-52 school year. Veteran Students eligible for acceptance in Air Science III (Junior year) without previous ROTC training must meet the following criteria:

- Attainment of Junior academic rank at the beginning of or during the Fall quarter, 1951.
- Must not have reached the 25th birthday at the time of projected initial enrollment (with certain exceptions).
- Good moral character.
- Physically qualified for commissioning under current Air Force standards.
- Satisfactory academic standing (a minimum of "C" average in courses completed to date).

Veteran students who are now members of National Guard or Reserve units may be discharged from such organizations if finally accepted for enrollment in Advanced ROTC. These discharges are contingent upon the student signing an agreement to serve a minimum of two years as a commissioned officer with the Air Force upon successful completion of ROTC, if called.

Students desiring more information or wishing to submit applications should call in person at the ROTC offices, Tweed Annex, Monday through Friday between 9 a. m. and 4 p. m.

Sigma Iota Epsilon Plans Fishing Trips

The northern Minnesota wilderness will reverberate when Thomas Walton blazes the trail to Clearwater Lake with his "28 Cadillac." Following the scars on the trees and the scattered parts on the trail, will be members of the Sigma Iota Epsilon on their fishing trip. Heading the expedition are Gordon O. Voss, Frank Kovach, and George W. Senteney. The entire group is expected to number about thirty.

The purpose of this outing is mainly to get some of those huge trout from Clearwater Lake. In case you don't know, the lake is up the North Shore near the Canadian border. However, some fellow admitted that they merely want to camp out for a week-end so as to escape the complexity of civilization. They will leave on Friday afternoon of May 18 and return on Sunday, May 20.

Two Sororities to Honor Mothers With Spring Tea

Two sororities will honor their mothers with Mother-Daughter teas during the next two weeks.

Sigma Phi Kappa is having a Mother-Daughter tea Friday, May 18 at Tweed hall from 3-5 p. m. The mothers and daughters will be toasted during the tea. The program will include the presentation of pins to the juniors.

Sigma Psi Gamma has planned their tea for May 13 at Tweed hall from 3-5 p. m. The guests will be received at the door. A spring motif is planned and the mothers will be given favors as mementos. Lois Johnson is in charge of the instrumental music.

UMD News Briefs

Dr. Elizabeth Graybeal will entertain the staff and women health and physical education majors and minors at a tea Tuesday from 3:30 to 5:00 p. m. at Tweed Hall.

At this meeting Dr. John E. King will speak to the group on the facilities for physical education and the future plans in this area.

Representatives of the Newman club accompanied by the Rev. James Golden, adviser, and Miss Hilda Schumacher, assistant adviser, went to Superior last Sunday to attend the Newman club initiation ceremonies of the newly-formed club. The delegation included: Gladys Dardis, Mike Diekmann and Cathy Johnston.

Also present were Newmanites from Northland college, Ashland, Wisconsin, who performed the initiation duties.

All students are invited to meet Art Kru, art educator at Superior State college, and view his exhibit of oils and watercolors Sunday from 4 to 8 p. m. at the Hart Gallery, 26 North First Avenue East.

His paintings will be on exhibit through June 1. The gallery is open on week days from 9 to 5:30 and Saturdays from 9 to 5 p. m.

ORCHESIS TO PRESENT SPRING DANCE CONCERT

Thirty-three members of Orchesis, the national honorary dance organization, will present a dance concert under the direction of Rose Mary Hoene next Friday evening at 8 p. m. in the auditorium.

The first part of the concert will be dances which the students themselves choreographed. They also designed their own costumes.

Kay Onsgard will begin the program with a dance called "City Lights." Other dance numbers are "Happy Hobos" by Beth Dun-der and Mary Heinan; "Mood" by Donna Unger and Lorraine Engman; "Hypnotic" by Elizabeth Anderson; "Two Little Girls" by Bev Evans and Marlene Anderson; "Black and White" by Mary Miller, Nancy Diers, Dorothy Kolling, and Elizabeth Anderson; and "What the Girls Say" by a group of the girls.

The second part of the program is centered around "Impressions of Mexico." Twenty-four of the girls will take part in the dance, "To the Fiesta!" Bev Evans dances the part of Jose in "Jose's Dream" with Kay MacDonald, Darlene Mellinger, and Doris Woolcock as senioritas. "Prayer-Lullaby" will be given by Nancy Diers.

A dramatic dance, "Lament of the Chosen Maiden," is based on a Mexican legend. Parts in this dance are the Chosen Maiden, Mary Miller; Temple Maidens, Shraon Traub, Alga Visias, Virginia Holes, Helen McPherson, and Janet Cloutier; and Mother by Marlene Anderson. "Mambo Rhythm," which has an accent on the upbeat, will be danced by six girls.

A dance number with James Meckola as Pancho and Ray Helgemoe as Cisco will end the show.

Delta Beta Gamma To Sponsor Dance

Delta Beta Gamma will open the spring social season with a dance on May 12. The scene of the "Spring Swing" will be the Medical Arts ballroom with Terry Evanson's orchestra supplying the music from 9-12 p. m.

The dance is informal, and cotton dresses will carry out the spring theme. Admission will be $1.20 per couple.

THINCLADS FINISH THIRD IN FIRST MEET

Ridgeview, Northland Site of Golf Tryouts

All the Duluth courses opened officially last week-end, offering UMD's golf candidates the opportunity to iron out the kinks before playing the qualifying rounds to determine the five members of the squad. Eighteen holes will be played at Ridgeview and a like number at Northland.

Six more candidates have signed for the tryouts, bringing the total number of aspirants to 17. The newcomers are Virg Fisher, Bob Holper, Dick Wallin, Bob Leone, Merle Johnson and John Sherman.

NUMMELA COPS FIRST IN MILE, HALF-MILE IN PACESETTING ROLE

Coach Joe Gerlach's thinclads posted 34 points in the quadrangular meet held Saturday at St. Peter. Macalester coasted to victory with 107 points while Gustavus Adolphus captured second with 42 and Augsburg finished last with 18.

Les Nummela starred for the Bulldogs, garnering ten points, on firsts in the mile and half-mile runs. Les ran the mile in the comparatively slow time of 4:50 but did well in the half-mile with a time of 2:03.

Lucas Chimzar, an Ely Junior college transfer, gave Coach Joe Gerlach reason to cheer when he broadjumped 21 feet, 2 inches for second place and captured third in the 100-yard dash and tied for fourth in the 220. Chimzar's efforts earned eight and a half points for the Bulldogs.

Marlowe Hammerston leaped six feet, one inch in the high jump but his brilliant feat fell short as a Macalester athlete copped the honors.

The Bulldogs' weightmen, Ken Johnson and Dick MacDonnell, tallied five points between them, Johnson placing second in the discus and MacDonnell gaining fifth in the same event.

Don Minore crossed the tape third in the two-mile, Herb Peterson placed fourth in the quarter mile and Bob Kuusisto and Dick Lorix garnered fifths in the half-mile and low hurdles, respectively.

Hammerston's high-jumping, Chimzar's broadjumping and dashes, Nummela's running and Johnson's disc tossing will be counted upon as point-earning threats in forthcoming meets.

Seven Tennis Hopefuls Prepare for First Match

Seven candidates, including a lone letterman, Walter Huseby, are listed on the tennis roster. The players are John Carnes, Bob Rice, Mark Magney, Don Pinther, Roland Cloutier and Jim Amlotte. Four juniors, one senior, a sophomore and a freshman constitute the relatively inexperienced net team.

The netters' first match is against Michigan Tech on May 12.

CHALK TALK

By JOHN
KREBS

While sitting here listening to the pitter-patter of little rain-drops on the roof, we got to thinking about the track, tennis and golf schedules of UMD. The Bulldogs have but four tilts scheduled in each sport, including the MIA Conference meets. As it now stands, the track team will clash with but two conference opponents and the tennis team only one. The golf squad is one of the best, if not the best, in the league—yet they will meet only one MIAC foe!

A few examples of the spring sports schedules drawn up by other conference schools are: Hamline—eleven in golf, eight track meets and 12 tennis matches; St. Thomas—seven track meets and 12 tennis contests; Gustavus Adolphus has ten track meets while little St. John's has slated eight tennis opponents.

Only about a third of the above mentioned were held before May 1.

Although UMD has scheduled less than half as many meets as the average conference school, it must be remembered that the Branch is the baby of the MIAC and that we are "out of the way" as far as other schools are concerned and that we don't have suitable weather until May and that we have no adequate athletic field.

But, other schools have encountered the same problems—and have solved them. Let's hope we, too, can solve them in years to come!

QUOTE . . .

From one Bernie Dinner, UMD trackster, when asked how he made out in the 440 at the recent Macalester meet. "Like an old soldier who never dies. I just f-a-d-e-d away."

ANYTHING GOES . . .

We see that Bill "Boots" Simonovich, Gilbert's All-State center, has been named to the Northern All-Star high school cage squad. Our congratulations, but—Last season, Buzz Bennett, Duluth Central All-Stater, failed to make the same team, although he did receive a nomination.

In our opinion, Buzz was, and still is a better player than "Boots" and Gilbert's Tommy Richardson put together. Watch Bennett in the future—he is now attending the U of M. . . . Incidentally, Simonovich received his nickname from the size shoes he wears, which is a monstrous 15. . . .

SPORTS EDITOR'S LAMENT

Regarding that huge (40 inches, count 'em) LS ad that is cramping our beloved sports page, we have come up with this poetic bit of verse:

Although that Lucky Strike ad takes up all our space,
We'd even switch to Luckies if we could paddle a girl someplace!

Wells Schedules Intra-Mural Golf Tournament Soon

Mr. Ward Wells, director of intramural competition at UMD, has announced that an intra-mural golf tournament will be held in the near future for all men students who are interested. (Aspirants for the school varsity golf team will be ineligible for this tournament.) A meeting will be held this Tuesday at 11 a. m. in the Athletic office for all those interested in participating in such an event. The times, the golf course to be used, and the type of tournament desired will be taken up at that time. Be there if you can—otherwise, sign up at that office.

Also, those interested in forming a softball intra-mural league should indicate their desire at that same time.

LUCKIES TASTE BETTER THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE!

Fine tobacco—and only fine tobacco—can give you the perfect mildness and rich taste that make a cigarette completely enjoyable. And Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. So if you're not happy with your present brand (and a 38-city survey shows that millions are not), switch to Luckies. You'll find that Luckies taste better than any other cigarette. Be Happy—Go Lucky today!
